Former Dayton Mayor Rhine McLin Endorses Tracey Tackett for Congress

Springfield — Former Dayton Mayor Rhine McLin today endorsed Tracey Tackett, Independent candidate for Ohio's 4th Congressional District.

McLin, a Democrat, served as mayor of Dayton from 2002 to 2010. Before that she was Ohio Senate Minority Leader and served in the Ohio Senate and Ohio House.

"Tracey Tackett has proven her commitment to her community and to bringing people together," McLin said, "I believe she has what it takes to win and to serve Ohio well in Congress."

Tackett, a Springfield city commissioner and political Independent, is running on bridging divides, accountability, and bringing a local focus to the Federal government.

"It's an honor to have Rhine's support. She is someone who understands the challenges of local government and of small, industrial cities trying to prosper in a changing economy." Tracey said, "She has experience I want to draw on."
